a fascinating historical examination of the santiago metro system as a microcosm of chilean national identity during the twentieth century the santiago metro the largest urban infrastructure project in chile s history was designed in the 1960s in response to rapid urban growth despite the upheavals of salvador allende s democratic socialism 1970 1973 and augusto pinochet s military dictatorship 1973 1990 the project survived and is now the largest metro system in south america what explains its success how did its meaning shift under democracy and dictatorship what does its history reveal about struggles for a more just city drawing on chilean and french archives andra b chastain demonstrates that chilean french relations and french financing were crucial to the project s survival during the cold war the metro s history also illuminates the contested process of implementing neoliberalism and the unexpected continuities of state planning and visions for a rational city that persisted despite free market reforms most important this story shows that the metro came to symbolize the nation and became a critical site where planners workers and urban residents contested chile s path to modernity this book explores how women in the chilean workforce and social activists describe and understand globalization and neoliberalism and their impact on their nation and the lives of chilean women by examining national policies quantitative measures of development and how various women in the labor force and political and community organizations perceive and live within the chilean economy clark shows the dynamic relationship between national and international policies and gender inequality and women s empowerment in addition to historic and contemporary data analysis on chile s economic commitment to neoliberalism since the 1970s clark discusses how women have benefited in neoliberal chile through wage labor and how that has impacted their relationships within the home and within their communities in addition to working full time these women were committed to full time activism to promote equality and provide a backlash against neoliberal economic policies overall therefore globalization and neoliberalism have had a profound impact on women in chilean society on the one hand opportunities have been opened for many women but on the other limitations and suffering have been imposed on just as many if not more an unfortunate consequence of these processes is that class differences among women have been exacerbated in particular most women have become victims of time still many women remain warriors for change whose political and social activism provide hope for a better chile
